PGT-M performed

For which disorders can PGT-M be performed?

genetically specific to a DNA defect are known or identified in a couple's genome. Unlike PGT-A, PGT-M requires a specific DNA defect to be identified in a couple's genome. PGT-M can be performed for a wide range of Mendelian disorders, including autosomal recessive, autosomal dominant, X-linked recessive, and X-linked dominant disorders. PGT-M can also be performed for mitochondrial disorders. PGT-M can be performed for a wide range of Mendelian disorders, including autosomal recessive, autosomal dominant, X-linked recessive, and X-linked dominant disorders. PGT-M can also be performed for mitochondrial disorders.

What are the steps of the PGT process?

1. Genetic testing of both parents
2. Pre-implantation genetic testing
3. Embryo selection
4. Embryo transfer
